Incident #1 - Destroying group assets & creating viruses

Recently, Mackbook01 decided to leave the roblox theme park community, and left a bunch of Roblox groups. But this wasn't the problem.

While leaving the group, Mackbook01 decided to destroy people's games/groups.

In Oakwood Theme Park Online, he went into every game and added a virus script into it. The script was coded so that when you activate a click detector, everyone in the server gets kicked out of the server, with a fake internet connection message. Mackbook01 used his alt account to cover his actions, and also gain secret access to the studios.

Additionally in another group which he left, Cypress Parks, Mackbook01 committed similar actions to before. He made changes to one of the rollercoasters so that it would derail and break every time it dispatches.

Evidence that it was Mackbook01 who made the changes:

Explanation to the situation:

Keep in mind that Mackbook01 did this fully on his own accord, for no valid reasons. The groups involved have done nothing to him, and he just chose to make these changes to the games all himself. Additionally when leaving the community he took everything which he created or contributed to out of all the groups games, even though they are group assets.

Now Mackbook01 is trying to slide back into the community, and work for new groups, hoping that people will forget everything he's done to peoples groups.

Incident #2 - Blackmailing, backstabbing

Hey there, Mackbook01 was one of my developers that used to work for my group. We became close friends with each other when he was first approached by my Co Director to work on scripting the system for us.

Mackbook01 came off as a lazy person not wanting to do the system and barely did any work for us, that's until he quit Oakwood Online when he started to develop more on the system which had a lot of progress and was almost ready to open and our friendship started to come on stronger, that was until he all the sudden went quite and left our group and others as well. That is when he quitted the community overall as we were upset by this decision from Mackbook01.

Furthermore, recently I revived an DM from Mackbook01 to remove his asset from our group, keep in mind that he was developing on our group game which in DMCA regulations stated that any property that is made under an organisation is to file under the organisations property.

CONTEXT

Mackbook01 mention one of his friend ChessyPaul that was working for me as Trial Developers at that time which I went to speak about what Mackbook01 DM me, I went onto to say to all of the Developers & ChessyPaul if they remove any asset that Mackbook01 will be gone from the team since Paul told him about this which he started to cause a argument with me other asset that belong to the Group.

When we first started development on our ride (not being mentioned) the layout was from NL2 Workshop which I had no involvement in adding that layout inside my game since it was added from one of my ex developers that I had no idea about adding that layout until around Mackbook01 left the group.

Evan's [REDACTED] GAME was a group asset but you still removed your stuff

12/10/2025 21:57
that was because it wasn't from the group game

Mack ✅ # 12/10/2025 21:57
Remove the system
[REDACTED] or i will tell thrill forge that the layout is stolen off no limits

Evidence that Mackbook01 made it under our group (Vitcms & Group wants to stay Anonymous)

This is when Mackbook01 decided to blackmail me out of my own will to try and force me to remove his asset or he will get me banned from Thrill Forge (RAAPA) which crossed the line with me as I had no involvement in that.

NL2 Workshop Layout - Its adjustable and u can make ur own versions out of it (owner clearly doesn't mind what you do with it)

My advice on Mackbook01's don't let him have too much control or he'll do the same actions that he did with other group trying to destroy group asset in total - #DONTLETHIMBACKINTHECOMMUNITY
